J. C. INGALLS'
Throat and Lung Specific.

This invaluable compound is purely vegetable, and is Nature's grand remedy for Colds, Coughs, Whooping Cough, Croup, Catarrh, Bronchitis, Asthma, Pain in the Side, Spitting Blood, and Consumption. It is a most remarkable cure for Canker in the Mouth, Throat, Stomach, and Bowels, Salt Rheum, Scrofula, Erysipelas, and other Humors.

It will relieve Croup in Children in from three to five minutes.

This medicine replenishes the wasting matter of the system with nutritive and vitalizing elements, expels Humors from the Body, and prevents the secretion of Catarrhal Matter in the Head.

"To the multitude now suffering with coughs, and the various throat and lung diseases, I feel it my duty to recommend J. C. INGALLS' Throat and Lung Specific as pre-eminently the best medicine for the throat and lungs within the compass of my knowledge. Its curative effects upon my friends have been truly surprising."

REV. GEO. S. CHADBOURNE.

"I have found the curative effect of the Throat and Lung Specific, for catarrhal complaints, to be very remarkable."

ABIJAH THOMPSON,
North Woburn, Mass.

"All those who have tried one bottle of your Specific have, in every case, wanted another."

REV. A. TURNER,
Falmouth, Me.

"I can honestly recommend this Specific as, in my opinion, superior to any medicine with which I have ever been acquainted."

REV. ISRAEL DOWNING,
Kennebunkport, Me.

"The best medicine for coughs and consumptive complaints that ever I saw is J. C. INGALLS' Throat and Lung Specific."

JOHN McLAUGHLIN,
61 Appleton St., Boston.

"I wish you would send me one dozen of your Throat and Lung Specific soon as you can. It works like a charm. It sells well."

JOHN F. PRINDELL,
Keene, N. H.

"The curative effect of this medicine has been truly wonderful. My neighbors and friends, as well as myself, think that this Specific has wrought almost a miracle. It is truly the most valuable medicine I ever knew."

PREFACE.

In the preparation of this revised edition of the Malden and Melrose Directory, it is due to our patrons to say, we have spared no pains to make it a complete and accurate record.

We have endeavored to visit every house, and to obtain the most reliable information possible at the door.

We have tested the accuracy of the work in various ways, in its progress, in order to obviate all reasonable objections.

And with many thanks to our kind friends who have looked with favor on our enterprise, and lent us their aid, we now commend our work to public regard, trusting that it will be found a valuable and helpful record.

HISTORY OF MELROSE.

CHAPTER IX.

MELROSE.*

The town of Melrose was incorporated May 3, 1850, thirty-three years ago. Previously this territory was a part of Malden, called North Malden, as Everett was South Malden. Originally, however, it was included in the district of somewhat indefinite extent assigned to Charlestown.

This district, embracing also Malden and several surrounding towns, was thus vaguely defined by the order of the general court "to extend eight miles from Charlestown meeting-house out into the country;" with this thoughtful proviso, however, that it should not interfere with any other boundaries.

When Malden was incorporated in 1849, this northern portion, upwards of four square miles or 2000 acres, was a dense forest, inhabited only by indians and wild animals. It was called "The Commons," then considered only valuable for timber and prospective pasturage.

These common lands were afterwards divided among the freeholders of Malden, the last division taking place in 1695, when Malden was found to contain seventy-four freeholders. Soon after the incorporation, however, it began to be settled. It appears that the Lyndes, descended from one Thomas Lynde, of Charlestown, who became a freeman in 1634, made the first settlement in North Malden as early as 1653. There were several families of them, and the old houses on Washington, Main, and Lebanon streets are still extant, memorials of these families of over two hundred years' duration.

The Greens were descendants of Thomas Green, who settled in Malden in 1651, and owned a farm of sixty-three acres at the Highlands.

The Barretts, one of the oldest families of Melrose, were descended from James Barrett, who settled in Charlestown in 1635. Deacon Jonathan, his grandson, who came to Melrose about 1705, built his homestead on Barrett Lane, now Porter Street.

The Spragues descended from Ralph Sprague, the oldest of three brothers, Ralph, Richard, and William, who settled in Charlestown in 1629. Ralph's son, John, settled in Malden; and John's son, Phineas, removed to Melrose about the year 1700, where he built his homestead near the site of the present residence of Mr. Liberty Bigelow, on Foster Street.

From Lieut. Phineas Upham of Malden, descended all the numerous families of Malden and Melrose Uphams. His grandson Phineas was the first settler on Upham Hill, about 1700.

About the year 1742, Thomas and Benoni Vinton, descendants of John Vinton, of Lynn, settled at Melrose Highlands, then a part of Stoneham.

It would be interesting to follow still farther these old family names, and trace out the landmarks of bygone days, did time and space permit.

Much of the early history of Melrose, social, civil, political, and military, may be found included in that of Malden; but the physical features are of marked peculiarity, and present a diversified landscape of hills and vales interspersed with charming lakes nowhere surpassed in natural beauty. In the civil war her noble record commands admiration, while her generous supply of men and money to sustain the authority of the general government, deserves especial mention.

When in 1850 it seemed advisable to set up an independent existence as a town, one of the first requsites was a name. And had all the muses conspired together, it is doubtful whether they could have produced anything more sweet and euphonious than Melrose, (honey-rose.) This name, it is said, was suggested by the striking similarity of features to the Melrose of Scotland on the Tweed, of world-wide celebrity on account of its Abbey and Abbotsford, the country-seat of Sir Walter Scott, who, in his writings, made that regions famous. And scarcely less unique and fanciful is the township seal, emblematic of strength, industry, and culture.

What has already been said of the Spot Pond water, in the history of Malden, (Chapter 8th), is equally applicable, of course, to Melrose.

In 1869 this inestimable treasure was secured to the three towns, Malden, Medford, and Melrose, by purchase of the franchise of the Spot Pond Water Company, and the works were fully completed for use, Aug. 26, 1870.

In 1653, about the time the first settlement was made, the first road through the town from Winnisimet to Reading was laid out by the commissioners, Thomas Marshall, John Smyth, and John Sprague, appointed by the General Court. Before this the traveller had to pick his way along Indian trails and sinuous bridle-paths through forests thick with tangled undergrowth.

In 1806 Main Street was laid out, and since that time, to meet the wants of a growing community, about thirty miles of streets have been opened.

Churches. — To attend public worship and town meetings, the early settlers had to go to Malden, or Middletown, as the Centre was called; but about 1813 preaching services began to be held in the district school-house on the old road, near what is now the corner of Lebanon and Upham Streets.

These meetings gave rise to the Methodist Episcopal Church, which was organized in 1815, whose signal prosperity since is abundantly evinced by the present beautiful church edifice on Main Street. For many years this church occupied the field alone, but in 1828 was severely tried by a schism, growing out of the disaffection of certain members and the form of church government, immediately occasioned, perhaps, and intensified by the removal of their beloved and very popular pastor, Rev. Mr. Norris, to a church in Boston. It appears, however, that this was done at his own request, a fact that was not generally understood at the time. The disaffected members withdrew, and for a time maintained preaching services as "Protestant" or "Reformed Methodists," until finally, in 1856, they were merged in the "First Baptist Church," now worshipping in their neat and substantial brick house, on the corner of Main and Upham Streets. This church was dedicated November 17, 1874.

The Orthodox Congregational Church was organized July 11, 1848. Its first house of worship on Foster St., burned in 1869, was dedicated May 17, 1849.

The present fine church edifice on the same street, with that beautiful parsonage by its side, evidencing substantial growth and prosperity, was dedicated October 26, 1870. Without pursuing this catalogue farther, suffice it to say, all the several churches — of which there are eight in Melrose — present the external appearances of prosperity, and maintain houses of worship alike creditable to themselves and to the town.

Schools. — The schools of Melrose have grown with the rapid increase of population, till from the one lone unpainted representative school-house 20 x 25 feet in size on Upham Lane, and three schools in 1850, they now number eight school-buildings, many of them large ornamental structures, and fourteen schools besides the High School. All these schools are represented in fine condition, maintaining a high character for excellence, as the very liberal educational endowment of the town would seem to require, and certainly ought to insure; while the Public Library, containing about 5000 vols., established in 1871, has become one of the most valuable accessories of learning and general intelligence.

Here too comes in for consideration as not the least among the progressional powers, the Melrose Journal, an able, judicious and attractive paper, whose wholesome influence and abounding light from week to week make it more and more deserving of a strong and vigorous support as one of the valued representative institutions of the town.

Melrose's substantial and beautiful Town House also standing on the corner of Main and Essex Streets, will long be, besides its great convenience, a conspicuous ornament, and in its representative character of the culture, the thrift, and of the public spirit of the people, must be worth many times its cost. The clock thereon was the generous donation of Daniel Russell, Esq.

Melrose was incorporated in 1850, with a population of 1,260, and a valuation of $483,446; in 1880 her population had increased to 4,560, and now from the assessors' recent report to 4,739, with a valuation of $4,452,828.10. This remarkable growth has been steady and healthy, giving the strongest assurance of continuing prosperity.

The accessibility of the town, her picturesque beauty and general attractiveness, her fine streets and pleasant residences, her churches, schools, public library, and savings bank, all in excellent condition; her never-failing fountain of pure and soft water, her gas-light accommodations, her nearness to the emporium of trade, and her many facilities of business, manufacturing, mechanical, and mercantile, cannot fail to attract strongly any and all who may desire to make for themselves pleasant homes in one of the most quiet and charming of suburban towns.

THE GOLDEN RULE.

A Rare Offer from the Publishers of The Golden Rule to the citizens of Malden and Melrose.

The GOLDEN RULE is a weekly non-sectarian, religious family paper, published in Boston, at two dollars a year, and is rated one of the best of its class. No paper in the country can excel the GOLDEN RULE in attractiveness and intrinsic value. It is the favorite family paper wherever introduced.

Read the following offer:

To any person not now a subscriber to the GOLDEN RULE, sending fifty cents in stamps or otherwise, the GOLDEN RULE will be sent from the time the subscription is received to January 1, 1885.

Write at once, enclosing fifty cents, and mention this Directory. You are sure of four times your money's worth, at least. Address

"THE GOLDEN RULE, BOSTON, MASS."

The publishers of the "Malden and Melrose Directory" cordially endorse all that is claimed above for the GOLDEN RULE. We consider it a paper of rare merit, and our readers will do well to accept so generous an offer.

THE
ACADEMY OF MUSIC,
Elocution, Language and Painting,
281 Columbus Avenue, Boston.

All Branches of Music Taught in Private or Classes. Circulars sent free to any address.

The following eminent professors give instruction at this Academy:

MR. CARLYLE PETERSILEA, Director.
Specialty — Piano-forte; finishing students for teaching, and the concert stage.

MR. CALIXA LAVALLEE; Piano Composition and Instrumentation.

MISS ELLEN D. BARRET, Vocal Teacher; Italian Method.

MRS. FLORA E. BARRY, Vocal Teacher.
Special attention given to pupils preparing for the stage, either in Concert, Oratorio or Opera, Classic Songs and Ballad Music, in English, French, German or Italian.

MR. CHARLES L. CAPEN;
Harmony, Counterpoint, Composition, Organ and Piano.

MRS. N. B. MENARD;
Teacher of Painting in Oil and Water Colors; also on China.

MR. OVERTON W. BARRET, Elocutionist and Rhetorician.
Students fitted for the Lyceum, Forensic or Dramatic Stage, and for Character Readings.

CARL MEISEL and E. F. ADAMS, Violin.

MR. J. B. CLAUS; Piano and all Band Instruments.

MR. ERNST JONAS, Violoncello; MRS. F. C. SHERWOOD, Harp;
MR. J. G. LENNON, Organ.

ATTENTION IS CALLED TO THE PETERSILEA MUTE PIANO.

It gives out no sound. The keys are arranged with springs and weights so that the action can be made hard or easy, is full 7¼ octaves, and only weighs 41 pounds. It compels the thinking of music, strengthens the fingers, hand and wrist, and is invaluable to the piano-forte artist for memorizing difficult compositions. It saves its cost in the wear and tear of a fine piano-forte in a year. Send for circular. Address

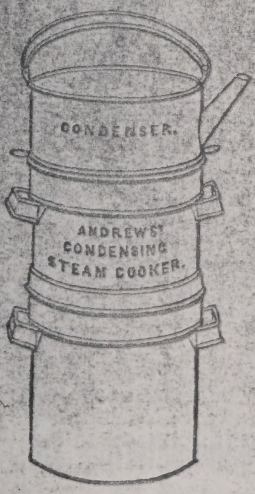
Andrews' Condensing Steam Cookers



Retain all the steam, therefore NO ODOR nor steam escapes in the house. Food will not burn, Cooker will not unsolder, and no watching is required because the water does not boil away. As less water is required, there is less time, less heat, less space for water and more for food. Needing no water tubes, no steam pipes, no valves, no mica lights, no faucets, they are less complicated, easier to clean and take care of, and more durable. Unlike all others, they can be used equally as well on an Oil, Gas, Gasoline, Wood or Coal Stove. All kinds of food can be cooked at same time, without detriment to either.

COMMON SENSE FERTILIZERS.

Use our goods and get the largest returns for the smallest outlay. They are positively the cheapest.

Admitted by those who have used it to be equal if not superior to any Fertilizer now in the market.

A comparative test of Fertilizers, made at the Rhode Island State Farm, at Cranston, showed that the "Common Sense," produced nearly 20 per cent. more potatoes than any other. Hundreds of testimonials from the leading farmers of New England attest its excellence and cheapness. AN INVALUABLE COMPOUND

For all owners of Grain-Fed Animals.

SATISFACTORY RESULTS GUARANTEED.

Waltham, Mass., Dec. 17, 1884.

Messrs. PIPER & ROBINSON.

Gents:—I have used your Imperial Prepared Food since last July, with what I consider wonderful results. I had a horse so completely run down that I was ashamed to drive him. I fed him 12 quarts of grain daily, but could get no flesh upon him. I commenced using your Food, and in a very few days it brought him right up, in fact made a new horse of him, and he continues in good health and strength.

I took a horse from John Willis, of Brighton, that he said was not worth a cent. I have used the Food upon him, and he does not look or act like the same horse, so much is he improved. I am working my horses every day and they continue to improve. I shall be happy to have you refer any one to me as to the merits of the Food, as I feel I cannot speak highly enough of it, and think any farmer should have it in his barn.
